Fig: Pokhara

I have heard that Pokhara is the most wonderful place to visit. It is the famous tourist area among other places. There are many amazing places that could attract people easily. I was keen to go there. You could say it was like my dream to visit Pokhara. I was lucky at that time as my friends made a plan on a trip to Pokhara on vacation. I was glad and excited to know about the trip plan.

The next day, we started our tour to Pokhara from Kathmandu. We crossed three districts, hills, rivers, and bridges to reach our destination. On the way, there were so many dense jungles, rivers, small cities, and popular places.

I was impressed with the natural beauty, peacefulness and other attractiveness of Pokhara on my first arrival. It was late evening when we got there, so we couldn't visit on that day and we stayed in a hotel at lakeside. The view of lake and mountain from the roof of the hotel is really eye catching and that view just touched our hearts.

One of my friends says "Aww this life was worthless before we came to this heaven"

On the next morning, we went Sarangkot for the sunrise view and that was pretty wonderful, it was really great to see the rising sun on the palm of my hand. After that, we went to many wonderful places like Davis Falls, International Mountain Museum, World Peace Pagoda, Powerhouse, Bindabasini Temple, Barahi Temple, Fewa lake and Begnas lake. Although it is the city of seven lakes we could only make two. It was really exciting and thrilled experience. The views were really marvelous. We took so many photos and videos and even now I can't ignore that picture that we took there.

The city itself is a really beautiful place plus, we had a really wonderful hospitality there along with great tastes of foods. The city is neat and clean and also the people of that place were nice, polite and manner full.

We did visit so many astonishing places that day and got tired. In the evening we returned to the same hotel as it got a nice view. The very next day, we headed back to our home Kathmandu. I miss that place so much. That place is always my favorite and whenever I get the opportunity I will sure visit Pokhara.
